

Cleanroom

Why material choice and finish matter even more

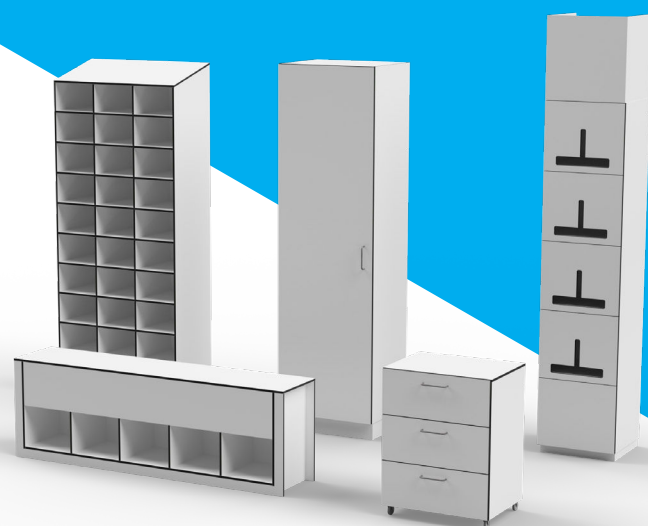

In addition to the realization of laboratories, INTOS Lab Solutions also focuses on the furnishing of cleanrooms. Here, the selection of high-quality materials and the finish of the product are even more crucial.

A well-coordinated cleanroom is essential, especially for production processes that run 24/7. Delays are unacceptable; therefore, strict agreements and lead times combined with high quality are critically important.

In a cleanroom, it is all about ensuring a clean environment. Consider contamination from dust particles, micro-organisms, and chemical vapors in the air. The furniture in a cleanroom is perfectly adapted to this. Characteristic of cleanroom furniture are flush doors and windows, pass-through cabinets, stainless steel 316 frames, and solid core material furniture, all contributing to optimal use in these specialized environments.
